SOHO MISSION

The Society of Hematologic Oncology (SOHO) is an international society designed specifically for clinicians, research scientists and related health care professionals who specialize in the research and treatment of patients with hematologic malignancies. SOHO's mission is to expedite worldwide research and education through the exchange of scientific information.

FORMAT AND ATTENDANCE

Due to the growing size of the annual meeting, SOHO has expanded to a larger venue, the George R. Brown Convention Center in Houston, Texas. The move permits SOHO to continue its current format (no parallel sessions) and focus on presentations with the 'latest advances'. The move also provides a greater number of commercial opportunities for our valuable industry partners.

REACH A LARGER AUDIENCE THROUGH AN INDUSTRY EXPERT SESSION

Current exhibitors are encouraged to take advantage of Industry Expert Sessions (IES) and the opportunity to present live non-accredited educational sessions for up to 500 in-person attendees, highlighting a new service or the development of a particular product.

SOHO will provide food and beverage at the Industry Expert Session as an additional incentive for attendees to participate. In-person Theater sessions may be reserved on a first-come, first-served basis.

The application deadline is May 1, 2026. The deadline to submit all session details including title, speakers, and a description is June 1, 2026.

INTERACT DIRECTLY WITH HEM ONC PROFESSIONALS

More than 100 organizations will highlight the most advanced treatments, products, and services in the hematologic oncology field.

Meal programs are located in dedicated spaces within the exhibit hall. Three break areas are strategically placed with charging stations and live feeds from the education theater. Attendees must travel through exhibits to access Refreshment Breaks, Barista-Manned Coffee Bars and Registration/Badge Retrieval.
